Yardstick Is On Negro Ball Players

At Ebbets Field Sunday the crowd watching the doubleheader between the Homestead Grays and the Newark Eagles will engage in many a hot debate. But it's difference of opinion that makes baseball as well as horse racing.

Josh Gibson, home run hitter of the Grays, will be squatting down in Mickey Owen's spike marks and the fans are sure to compare the work of the two backstops. In the Grays' outfield will roam a ball hawk by the name of Sammy Bankhead. When Bankhead drags down a long one speculation will be rife if Pistol Pete Reiser could have done it any prettier.

The pitching of Leon Day of the Eagles will be set over against the hurling of Whitlow Wyatt of the Dodgers, and out at short Willie Wells, playing manager of the Eagles, will patrol Peewee Reese's crescent of dirt—to whose detriment?
